

Compliance designed BPM-based Automation to Streamline Your General Business Processes

The Compliancy Internal Control Management (ICM) solution goes beyond Governance, Risk, Compliance (GRC) automation to include general business process management (BPM) automation with unique built-in regulatory level controls to ensure adherence to the processes put in place.

With Compliancy ICM you are getting two major capabilities as part of one solution - the ability to automate your risk management and compliance requirements and the ability to automate your general business processes, all with the ability to utilize the control capabilities to ensure adherence to the processes.

Your company has spent and will spend considerable time and resources to standardize on business operation processes. Compliancy is unique with its built-in controls to ensure adherence to those processes. As a result, management has better visibility to what is happening in the company, can be more reactive to issues, and have better accountability across the company.

The bottom line is more effective results, better decision making and better cost management.
