Compliance Introduces ComplianceOnline and adds a record number of New Accounts

Research Triangle Park, NC – October 22, 2015. Compliance introduces its long awaited comprehensive cloud solution for internet security and audit applications. Compliance has developed its GRC platform for over 13 years with millions of automated audit transactions performed for clients. The technology started as an innovated web-based GRC automation tool and evolved into sophisticated cloud-based GRC / internet security solution. ComplianceOnline takes this proven technology and packages it with business intelligence, information security tools and audit services for a comprehensive cloud-based information security and audit solution for small and mid-market enterprises.

“We have taken our years of experience with fortune 500, international and government agencies and have packaged a solution to assist the smaller enterprise with their information security needs” says Mark Shaw, President of Compliance. “Smaller organizations are being saddled with an increasing level of IT audit requirements and we have the technology and resources to help them in a cost effective manner.”

In 2015, Compliance has already surpassed its previous record number of new clients for a calendar year. This growth is being driven by information security audits and requirements such as SOC, PCI, HIPAA, Shared Assessment and others. Finding cost effective ways manage a multitude of requirements is key to Compliance’s clients and ComplianceOnline is the next step to addressing the market.

Compliance will continue, not only to invest in its technology but is focused on total compliance solutions by offering services to assist organizations in attaining and maintaining compliance with multiple information and business standards and regulations.
