PPD Selects Compliancy Software's ICM to Automate Their Sarbanes-Oxley and Financial Processes

March 28, 2007 -- Compliancy Software, provider of next generation solutions for automating business processes for risk management and compliance regulations was selected by PPD, a North Carolina based contract research company for pharmaceutical, biotechnology, medical device, academic and government organizations, to automate its Sarbanes-Oxley (SOX) and general financial processes.

PPD is a leading global contract research organization providing discovery, development and post-approval services to maximize returns on R&D investments and accelerate the delivery of safe and effective therapeutics to patients.

PPD selected Compliancy Internal Control Management (ICM) software because they wanted a single solution that was easier, more cost effective, and with the flexibility to start with their SOX processes and then extend to general business processes and future compliance and risk management requirements.

"The combination of Compliancy's template and forms driven ease of use, flexibility and Business Process Management (BPM) automation capabilities were ideal to for PPD to most effectively meet all their needs today and in the future with a single solution," said Mark Shaw, President and co-founder of Compliancy Software.

Compliancy's ICM is an integrated BPM-based solution for automating any risk, compliance or general business process. ICM is unique in providing all these capabilities in a single, integrated platform as well as advanced capabilities such as continuous control monitoring and its unique Individualized Task Routing™ (ITR) capabilities so that task owners only deal with their specific tasks thus eliminating access to complex systems and significantly reducing training and support costs.
