Pentair Pool Products Selects Compliancy Software to Automate Their Sarbanes-Oxley and Business Operation Processes

November 6, 2007 -- Compliancy Software, provider of next generation solutions for automating business processes for risk management, compliance regulations and general business processes was selected by Pentair Pool Products, a division of Pentair, Inc. to automate their Sarbanes-Oxley requirements and business operations in finance, IT, marketing, sales and human resources.

Pentair Pool Products is the world's largest manufacturer of swimming pool equipment and accessories. Pentair Pool Products offers more equipment choices than any other company and is focused on providing the most up-to-date technology to improve breakthrough energy-efficient performance, ease of operation and outstanding reliability.

Pentair selected Compliancy because they wanted a single solution that was easier, more cost effective, and with the flexibility to start anywhere in their company to automate their business processes and then extend to SOX and other business process requirements with built-in controls to ensure compliance of all their business processes.

"Compliancy's application provides the flexibility to start with any business process and then expand as needed," said Mark Shaw, President and co-founder of Compliancy Software. "It is unique with built-in controls structures and processes to ensure compliance of any business process whether it is regulatory or any general business operation thus enabling improved business performance.

Compliancy's application is an integrated BPM-based solution for automating any risk, compliance or general business process. It is a single, integrated platform with built-in compliance controls for any business process as well as advanced capabilities such as continuous control monitoring and its unique Individualized Task Routing™ (ITR) so that task owners only deal with their specific tasks thus eliminating access to complex systems and significantly reducing training and support costs.

About Compliancy Software

Compliancy Software provides a single application that is BPM-based for automating any business processes with built-in compliance controls to ensure results. Companies have the flexibility to start anywhere and grow to address all their Enterprise Risk Management (ERM), multiple compliance requirements such as Sarbanes-Oxley, and general business operations such as financial processes. Compliancy solutions enable a future-proof investment that more effectively reduces costs with its unique Individualized Task Routing (ITR), optimized automation, and integrated roles driven interfaces for greater ease of use and lower training and support costs.
